Significant Cases Resulting in Changes in Law

Consumer Dispute with HMO: Pasteur Health Plan Inc., v. Salazar, 658 So.2d 543 (Fla. 3rd DCA, 1995). The first case in the State of Florida in favor of consumers holding Health Maintenance Organization contracts are "contracts of adhesion" and holding HMO's accountable to consumers similar to traditional insurance companies. Defendant HMO forced to pay over $750,000.00 in hospital/medical bills incurred by a child before he died as a result of an ATV accident, in addition to the attorneys' fees and costs incurred by the child's mother in litigating against the HMO.

Diet Litigation: National Nutri/System litigation. Served as Co-Lead Counsel in National litigation against Nutri/System, an international weight loss chain, leading to several Congressional Hearings, nationwide media coverage, changes in the way the diet industry advertises services and a settlement for approximately 580 claimants across the country.
